

ThermHex Waben GmbH, based in Halle (Saale), is a manufacturer of resource-saving honeycomb cores made from recyclable polypropylene for the production of lightweight sandwich elements. We encounter their fields of application every day: modern swimming pools, wind turbines, and solar modules are built using thermoplastic honeycomb cores, as are the transportation, aviation, and aerospace industries. The possible applications are diverse, and sandwich construction with honeycomb cores makes an important contribution to weight reduction, improving the CO2 balance, and conserving our resources.

To strengthen our team, we are looking for a full-time, dedicated

Machine and plant operator (m/f/d)

Your tasks:

- Setting up, converting, and operating our modern production facilities
- Monitoring the flow of materials and ensuring optimal production parameters
- Performing and documenting regular quality controls
- Packaging and loading finished products
- Accepting and inspecting incoming goods
- Performing minor maintenance and repair work
- Actively participating in process optimization and technical improvements

You bring along:

- Ideally, completed training in a technical field, e.g., plastics processing (not mandatory)
- Initial professional experience in a comparable position – career changers with a technical background are also welcome
- Forklift license is an advantage
- Proof of qualification to carry out electrical work (e.g., small electrical license) is desirable
- Willingness to work shifts
- Technical understanding, team spirit, and reliable working methods

We offer:

- A full-time permanent position with prospects in a growing company
- Responsible tasks for independent realisation in an international environment
- 30 days' holiday and an attractive fixed salary as well as target-based variable payments
- Appreciative interaction and a good atmosphere with our colleagues
- Family-friendly working hours with the option of working from home

If you

- Have your tasks and priorities in mind and continuously pursue your goals,
- enjoy the careful realisation of tasks and are customer and service-oriented,
- have a positive and friendly charisma,
- are open to new situations and topics and master challenges at eye level,
- handle sensitive situations with skill and the necessary loyalty, then become part of our team. We offer an interesting job in a great and committed team. Continue the success story with us.

Have we aroused your interest?

We look forward to receiving your detailed application (motivation, CV) stating the earliest possible start of employment to bewerbung@thermhexas.com.

ThermHex Waben GmbH, Merseburger Str. 235, 06130 Halle (Saale)